THE WINTER WISH

I used to envy bears. They would go into hibernation in late fall and wake up in early spring. The perfect lifestyle for a sailor.

Shortly before she passed, I told my 97-year-old mother about this wonderful hibernating-bear-lifestyle idea. I mentioned how I spent cold nights wishing away winter. "Don't wish away your life," she scolded, "it's short enough already." And she was right.

I grew up in Houston and saw snow only once during my first twenty years. It's hard for a southern boy to embrace cold weather...but now I do. I no longer wish away winter. Sure I miss sailing seven months out of twelve. (Don't try to entice me with a ride on a DN...I'm a committed softwater guy.) But there's still a lot to do when ice covers the bay.

Here are some ideas:

- Shovel snow.
- Chop firewood.
- Burn firewood to keep warm.
- Huddle beneath an electric blanket and binge-watch Netflix.
- Shovel snow.

Actually, there IS plenty to do...especially at JRSC. Euchre begins January 6th. Chad Roper is starting a book club. There are rumors of upcoming classes on knot tying, racing tactics, and small motor maintenance. I'm putting together another indoor toy sailboat regatta (the one our Adult Sailing Class raved about). Lady Lynne and her Entertainment Committee have some great events planned. And don't forget game nights! Plus, I have it on good authority from the Nerd Master that trivia is returning this winter to JRSC.

So don't wish away winter. Come out to the club and enjoy the season with your friends. (Wood chopping is optional.)
