Just Do It – Commodore’s Column

Ahoy my Jolly mates.

“Just do it” is not just a Nike slogan, but rather the meaning of my life. It’s not often that I back down from an adventure, although Sky Diving and Zip Lining are not on my bucket list. Sailing was on my bucket list, and I never envisioned achieving this goal in my late 50s and taking up racing just prior to my 60th birthday. Life has challenges for a divorcee of almost 28 years, one of which is taking on a sport that generally is accomplished with a significant other or spouse. Most women come to sailing either through experiencing it with family while young, or through the relationship with their spouse, but few find themselves migrating toward sailing as a single woman with a desire to learn something new.

As most of you know, I joined Jolly Roger as a social member before ever enrolling in the learn to sail course. I was looking for a way to make friends and a place to belong, and boy did I ever find what I was looking for. It was only after my brother Ted took the learn to sail course that I became intrigued by the prospect of learning to sail. The following year I was encouraged by my mother to take the sail course, to which I responded I don’t think it’s for me, but little did I know this small spark light the flame which has led me to the best adventure of my life.

I will never be a great sailor, I’m too old to garner the years of skill and knowledge it takes for that, but I can still be a sailor and enjoy my time on the water as much as the most skilled amongst us. This sailing adventure has taught me so much about sailing, but mostly about who I am and what I am capable of accomplishing. I have forced myself outside my comfort zone to experience the things that life has to offer, and now I’ve adopted a mission to spread the joy of sailing to others.

Recently, I offered two sailing packages to an auction at the University of Toledo, which turned out to be a very popular item. Soon you will probably see me on the river with two different groups of new sailors teaching them the ropes (lines, as you all would remind me), and offering them the opportunity to experience what a fun sport sailing is. Who knows, maybe we will garner some new members from this, but if not, we will still create lasting memories for those who have chosen to sail with me.

This year I’ve decided to embark on a new adventure in sailing, by entering the Catalina 22 Race National in June in the Silver Fleet (for cruising sailors and those inexperienced racers like me) and while I have no aspirations of winning, I at least want to look good trying. I have purchased new sails from Waters Sails and will be mounting them soon to SV So That, in the hopes it improves her performance. Time will tell about that. I’m still looking for 2 crew members to join me, so if you’re interested and are

I want to encourage all of you who are not on the Ottawa River for our Thursday night river racing to come out and join a crew. No experience is necessary since most of us are out there for the sheer joy of it, and we won't mind sharing our knowledge and helping you to learn to rig and sail a boat. If you have your own boat, come out and join us as well. If you need crew to help, just say the word and you will find helpful experienced sailors who are willing to ride along. I participate in the Thursday night racing for the camaraderie and stories of adventures we can share after, over dinner. This is one of the truly magical parts of Jolly Roger since it brings together those from all walks of life who share a common love of sailing. Just do it, you won't be disappointed.

Your humble Commodore,

Mary

Hello Jolly Roger family

Can you believe it is April already! If you have not started preparing for launching your boat there is still one more month to do so. I will not be with you at the general membership meeting this month as I will be on a small voyage for spring break.

On the 13th of this month, dust off your best Vaudeville act for the Talent Show. Should you not have an act to share, come cheer on your favorite one as it will be a great time. On the horizon we need volunteers for the 2024 Cattail Regatta. The information was in last month's Skulldigger in case you missed it. Please contact Phill to help out on this club sponsored event.

Work hour updates are normally posted before the general meeting, however for this month they will be placed on the bulletin board during the board meeting. There have been a couple of dock parties that I have not received work slips for. If you want the credited hours, be sure I get them. THANKS!

Speaking of preparing for the sailing season, how often were you asked for a tool, or you yourself needed one? If that did happen than the good news that follows is for you! This month's column is about tools you may want aboard as outline by many well-seasoned sailors.

These 10 tools are only the basics as you may have others you may like as well. In conclusion of this column there will be some educational factoids from the sea.

1. POCKET MULTI-TOOL Before we get into anything complicated, let start with the basics. You are going to want to have a good, sturdy, and high-quality pocket multi-tool on hand before setting out sailing. A good pocket multi-tool will have many features that might come in handy on a long sailing trip, including: Needle nose and regular pliers, wire cutter with strippers, knife blades, hammer, can/ bottle opener, basic screwdriver, and file for corrosion.
2. BLUE LOCTITE THREAD LOCKER Sailboats are notorious for rickety parts and screws that just don't want to hold firm. If you have a loose screw or other rattling parts, a little bit of thread locker will solve the problem immediately. Do notice I listed the blue type and not the red. The reason for those unfamiliar with Loctite, blue can be taken apart easily.
3. HEAVY DUTY PAIR OF SCISSORS can prove useful in many situations that might come up during sailing. From cutting line to cutting fiberglass, emergency gaskets, and sandpaper for filing corrosion, you will likely get a lot of use out of your scissors.
4. FLASHLIGHT WITH EXTRA BATTERIES AND BLUB no explanation should be needed as you will want to see in the dark.
5. BAILING DEVICE should you be lucky enough to have a bilge pump on board they do fail. This is Coast Guard safety device and should be included on big or small vessels.
6. PFDs are again a safety requirement on board. One per soul if you please.
7. DUCT TAPE you can use duct tape to patch minor cracks and leaks in your boat (although not as a replacement for drain plugs!), and you can also use it to patch tears and holes in your sail. Pretty much anything on your boat that is falling apart can likely be at least temporarily rejuvenated with a liberal coating of duct tape.
8. COMBINATION WRENCH SET while many sailors will simply opt for a ratchet set, a combination set is generally more portable than a full ratchet set and contains the opened-ended side of the wrench, as well.
9. SCREWDRIVER SET OR MULTI-BIT SCREWDRIVER if you have a multi-tool, you likely have a screwdriver bit on it for emergencies. However, a full set with varying sizes and bits is the best way to go.
10. DISTRESS ITEMS. Visual would be a flag, flares, or light emitting beacon. Sound items would include whistle, fog horn, hailer if your radio is so equipped and of course your own voice. The first history factoid I would like to share with you is one taken for granted due to it being as old as time. It is well known that here in the Lake Erie area we use miles more than knots for the speed of our boats and distant locations. Our forefathers of sailing used knots. Have you ever heard of a LOG LINE?

The log line is an old instrument for measuring the speed of the ship. It consisted of a flat piece of wood which was weighted at the bottom edge to enable it to float upright in the water. The log was attached to a long rope. The log line was wound on a spool so that it could be reeled out after the log was thrown into the water at the aft of the ship. The friction of the water held the log in place as the ship sailed away from it. As the ship sailed away from the log, the sailors taking the reading would count the number of knots that passed over the rail in a period of half-a-minute. That, my friends, was the first recorded way to calculate speed over water.

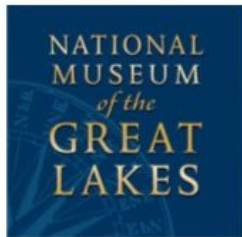

Lastly, time pieces. We take them for granted. They are placed on the wall, in the car, on our wrist, and many other locations. Did you know without a time piece it was difficult to tell Latitude and Longitude with accuracy. The first ever clock leads to navigation of the Pacific. Without doubt, the most famous pioneer of the navigation revolution was Captain James Cook who navigated the expanse of the Pacific thanks to the technical genius of John Harrison. In 1759, Harrison devised the first ever clock to keep the time exactly – in any variation of climate. Keeping exact Greenwich Mean Time, Harrison's clock enabled sailors to determine how many hours there were before or after that time and it was then possible to determine their longitude (degrees East to West position) on the globe.

Euchre to support junior sailing was a huge, huge success which concluded March 15th.

The second series winners were: 1st place Mick Clayton, 2nd Kathy Barton, 3rd Tim Marriott, 4th Kathy Aussey, and 5th place Jane Smith.

The final night we had 10 tables and a full bar. The big winner for the night with a score of 49 was Patrick Dugan.

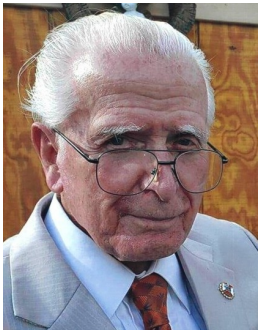

Special thanks to my co-chair Deb Behrens who took over the euchre while Marcie and I were enjoying time in sunny Florida. A big thanks to Becky Aumiller for getting the juniors working the 50/50 raffle. Also, to the kitchen crew who put together the great meals, and those who worked the bar to keep the spirits flowing.

Good times were had by all with all the proceeds from the euchre going directly to our junior sailing program. Again, thanks to all who came out to support our junior sailors.

Jolly Rogers Euchre community has lost one of its long time participants.

Jolly Roger Sailing Club

5961 Edgewater Drive, Toledo, Ohio 43611

The 2024 JRSC Cattail Regatta (for adult One-Design Classes) will be raced on a windward / leeward course on Maumee Bay (alternative racing on the Ottawa River should weather conditions warrant). All Junior racing will be held on the Ottawa River.

Registration Fee: $30 per crewed boat (Catalina 22s, Interlakes, etc.)

This regatta will be governed and scored per the 2021-2024 Racing Rules of Sailing, the prescription of the One-Design rules, and the specific Sailing Instructions of this regatta.

The Cattail Regatta is open to all One-Design Classes with a minimum of three boats per class. Although we anticipate a Catalina 22 Class, Interlake Class, Sunfish Class, Laser Class, Optimist Class (Juniors) and FJ Class (Juniors), all other classes able to sail this venue are welcome.
